Аннотация. В статье, через призму постнеклассической методологии, исследуется вооруженный конфликт на Донбассе, как производная Украинского кризиса. Автор критически анализирует три основных подхода к изучению и, соответственно, три уровня познания природы указанного конфликта: неореалистический, политико-режимный и культурный. Исходя из постнеклассического видения мира и фрактального понимания дихотомии Восток — Запад, исторически, лингвистически и культурно разнообразная Украина, в частности Донбасс, рассматриваются как континуум фрактальных различий и оппозиций от национального до местного уровней. В статье рекомендуются политические и институциональные пути урегулирования вооруженного конфликта на Донбассе в контексте современных тенденций глобализации. Делается вывод, что конфликт не может быть урегулирован до тех пор, пока Украина не выработает определенный баланс (динамический и изменчивый в пространстве) между Востоком и Западом. Рассматривается инклюзивная модель безопасности для Европы и Евразии. Обосновывается, почему Украина может иметь решающее значение для успеха трансконтинентального диалога Азия — Европа.

Ключевые слова: дихотомия Восток — Запад, фрактальность, Украинский кризис, конфликт на Донбассе
